Evidence Given Before Mr. Wicks In Rental Case

Mrs. Bertha Pears never at any time offered to supply her with meals or food or service of any kind, said Mrs. Eileen Mary King when giving evidence before Mr. J. Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

Mrs. King was testifying in the case in which Mrs. Bertha Pears was summoned on two counts of not giving rental notice and eight counts of excessive charges, on the complaint of Lieutenant-Commander George Victor King, R.N., who was represented by Mr. A. J. Clifford, instructed by Messrs. Hastings and Co.

Mr. Marcus da Silva represented Mrs. Pears, and, at the first hearing some three weeks ago, entered a plea of not guilty to all complaints. Chief Petty Officer Trevelyan, in cross-examination by Mr. Silva, admitted that he was asked by his superior officer, Lieutenant-Commander King, to give evidence in the case.

As far as the rents in the Colony go, admitted witness, he did not consider what Mrs. Pears charged him ($250) for two rooms as being excessive.

In reply to another question by Mr. Silva, witness said that he did not intend to seek reduction in the rent as he was leaving the premises tomorrow and intended to forget all past occurrences.

The crockery and linen supplied to him by Mrs. Pears were insufficient and he had to supplement them with his own.

In re-examination, CPO Trevelyan said that meals were never offered to him by Mrs. Pears, and that his linen consisted of two pillows, two pillow cases, and two sheets. He did not attempt to change them when they were dirty.

He had never considered the premises at 4 Knight Street as a boarding house, said witness, who added that he had never been asked to sign any form whatsoever.

Mr. L. E. Lammer testified to having been instructed by Messrs. Hastings and Company to assess the value of some furniture in three rooms at Knight Street.

In reply to Mr. Silva, witness said that the valuations he gave were very fair and assessed in accordance with the condition of the furniture as he found them.

Mrs. E. M. King stated in evidence that, on seeing a classified advertisement on July 12, 1947, she went to Knight Street but was unable to see the advertiser.

She, however, met her (Mrs. Pears) at 1 Middle Road, and together they went to Knight Street to view the room.

She was shown a large room and a small one which Mrs. Pears offered her at $300 and $50, respectively. She was also told that she could use the kitchen, the bathroom and the verandah on the upper floor.

Neither food nor free service was mentioned, but payment of electricity and gas was. She was told by defendant that if she wanted to cook on the premises she would have to share the gas bill. The electric bill was also shared among the occupants.

Stating that she had never considered the premises as a boarding house, witness said that her room and cooking was looked after by her own maid.

She has never seen any notices on the premises relating to rent.

In cross-examination, Mrs. King admitted that she approached Mr. Brand and Mrs. Coster regarding action against Mrs. Pears. She also discussed the matter with CPO Trevelyan.

Witness declared that it was not true that Mrs. Pears offered to supply her with meals or food. She took her meals during the early part of her residence at Knight Street, at the naval camp at Kai Tak.

Mrs. King denied that defendant's maid cleaned up her room from July to September last year. The work was done by an amah employed by two other occupants.

Questioned on her stay at the Harbour View Hotel, witness said that she was paying $30 a day for her husband, herself and two children. The furniture there was much better than Mrs. Pears'. There was also room service and the use of the telephone. They also enjoyed the amenities of a well-organised boarding house, said witness.

When Mr. Silva asked defendant whether the reason for the summons was to seek a reduction in her present rent of $500 to $24, Mr. Silva objected on the grounds that the question before the court was whether Mrs. Pears was making a fair profit or not.

It was not, said counsel, a question of what witness thought was fair or not, but a matter for the court to decide as to whether the rentals received by Mrs. Pears constituted excessive profits as defined by the Landlord and Tenant Ordinance.

In reply to further questions, witness said that it was not true that when she was offered the telephone room, after she had resided a notice to leave, she was told that she could not move the furniture from that room.

It was also untrue to say that she moved the furniture of that room out on to the landing when she moved in.

At this stage, further hearing was adjourned to the afternoon of November 1 when Mr. Silva will submit that the court has no jurisdiction over the case.

Gold Yuan Currency Violation

The first two prosecutions under the amended Chinese currency ordinance were taken before Mr. J. Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

Cheung Ko-sui, 38-year-old piecegoods dealer, pleaded ignorance of the Hong Kong laws when he was charged with importing $100 Gold Yuan, Chinese currency, at Kai Tak on September 29.

Revenue Officer D. H. Knox said that $100 Gold Yuan were found in the possession of accused. As the law permitted the importation and exportation of $20 Gold Yuan, the excess of $80 was seized.

Defendant was cautioned, and the excess amount confiscated.

Wong Pau-tse, aged 42, described as the Chinese shipping manager of Butterfield and Swire, had his bail of $500 forfeited and $207.50 Gold Yuan confiscated when he failed to answer a similar charge against him.

RO Knox said that accused had $307.00 Gold Yuan in all, and that $20 Gold Yuan was returned to him.

Mok Wan-lak, who stated that he represented accused, informed the court that Wong had gone to Canton on behalf of the firm and asked for a week's remand. This was refused by the magistrate who stated that in a criminal prosecution a representative has no power to apply for a remand.

The case was put back until the end of the morning session, with the bench advising the representative to engage a solicitor, should he desire to obtain a remand. Failing legal representation, accused would be considered as having failed to surrender to his bond.

$500 For Using Bad Materials

Mr. John Hempsey of the Public Works Department was complainant before Mr. Hin-shing Lo at Central yesterday in a summons against the manager of the Wing Construction Company for using defective materials in the construction of No. 25 Cross Street.

Pleading guilty, defendant was fined $500.

It was alleged by the prosecution that defendant on or before August 6 used such materials in the erection of the above building as not to comply with the requirements of the Building Authorities and not in accordance with the plans approved by the said authorities.

SOLD WITHOUT LICENCE

Li Lan, aged 36, was charged before Mr. Hin-shing Lo yesterday at Central with selling cigarettes without a licence and having in her possession dutiable cigarettes.

Defendant has been cautioned on three previous occasions for committing the same offence but still persisted in her unlawful dealings.

She was fined $150 and her goods, amounting to $1,400 cigarettes, were confiscated.

COUPLES CHARGED

Two couples were charged with disorderly conduct before Mr. Hin-shing Lo yesterday at Central.

The women had a quarrel, and their husbands were eventually involved in it. All who participated sustained injuries.

The four defendants were fined $15 each and bound over for six months at $50 each.

Chinese Charged With 2 Assaults

Two young Chinese girls, aged seven years and 12 years respectively, were the principal Crown witnesses in a case heard before Mr. Justice Gould (Puliano Judge), at the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

The two girls testified against a young Chinese man, Tsang Hing-chau, who faced trial before a jury of three men and four women on two charges of carnal knowledge of girls under the age of 13 years and two counts of indecent assault.

Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr, Assistant Crown Solicitor, conducted the case for the prosecution, assisted by Det. Insp. Lau Kam-kwong.

Mr. Blair-Kerr said that the alleged offences took place at No. 70 First Street, 11 floor, where both girls lived with their respective parents.

During the early hours of May 1, the older girl awoke to find the accused allegedly interfering with her. She felt considerable pain, but did not report the incident to her mother.

About four weeks later, on May 30, the younger girl went to the kitchen to go to the lavatory during the night. As she passed accused's bed on her way back from the kitchen, accused called to her and said that he had something to tell her. When she went up to him, he lifted her on to his bed and allegedly interfered with her. The girl also failed to make a report to her mother.

Noticed Stains

Later in the day, however, when the mother of the younger girl was giving her a bath, she noticed stains on her daughter's clothing. Becoming suspicious, she questioned her daughter and the latter then told her what had happened.

The mother approached accused and scolded him. In reply, he gave a very flimsy answer.

When the older girl heard about the matter, she also informed her own mother about what had happened to her.

Disputed that matter, but strangely enough, did nothing about it. It was left to the younger girl to call a policeman the following day.

The two children were taken to the police station and later to the Queen Mary Hospital, where they were examined. On June 1, accused was arrested and later charged.

Evidence in support of the case for the Crown was given by the two children and other witnesses. Accused, in the course of his testimony, denied the charges. He admitted, however, that the older girl, who was his cousin, did sleep with him for a month on

Junk Master Fined For Having No Fire-Fighting Gear

A case in which five men were involved in the possession of five tons of diesel oil on a junk of Cheung Sha Wan on September 15 was heard before Mr. W. H. Lattimer at Kowloon yesterday.

They were charged with being reasonably suspected of unlawfully obtaining the diesel oil, having no valid licence to carry oil on their junk, and having failed to equip the junk with fire-fighting appliances.

Mr. P. J. Griffith pleaded not guilty to the first charge on behalf of the defendants, and pleaded guilty to the second and third charges.

Outlining the case, Detective-Inspector C. J. Askew stated that about 3 a.m. on September 15, two Chinese detectives went over to Cheung Sha Wan harbour. As they walked along the water-front they caught sight of junk 1234V close to them and in complete darkness. They climbed on board and awoke the five sleeping occupants.

Junk Searched

A search of the junk revealed eight oil drums, three empty drums and one half-full, stored away, in addition to a large tank kept in the centre of the junk.

The junk master, who gave his name as Pang Ming, then showed the detectives a Junk Licence which had already expired.

There were no fire-fighting appliances in the junk.

The other four occupants of the junk stated that they were foks, and their job was to look after the junk and the cargo.

Questioned about the oil, the junk master said that he did not know who was the owner, and the junk was hired by a certain Lam Hun. One of the detectives accompanied one of the defendants to Hill Road and Canton Road, but could not find Lam Hun.

The junk master further said that the oil was stored on his junk on behalf of a Mr. Leo, whose address he did not know.

Mr. Griffith submitted that there were no reasonable grounds for suspicion on the part of the police, as nobody had made any report of five tons of oil having been stolen, in spite of inquiries to various companies and persons.

Violation Of Food Ordinance

As the result of complaints received from the Food Control Office, Health Inspector Wong Man-yui called at 422 Prince Edward Road, ground floor, on August 19 and asked for a pound of butter.

He was given a paper packet marked "Butter" by Chow Lai, and charged $2 for it. Mr. Wong sent it to the Government Chemist who certified it to be emulsion of hydrogenated coconut oil, an article inferior to margarine.

When Chow was summoned before Mr. J. Wicks at Kowloon yesterday under the adulterated Food and Drug Ordinance of 1935, Health Inspector Chow, after relating the facts of the case, said that defendant's shop was a small one and that he understood that defendant had purchased the margarine from the black-market.

The inspector added that the price for margarine is $1.70 a pound as against $2.30 for butter. It was possible, he said, that defendant might have been misled by the wholesalers, as Chow claimed to have paid $1.80 a pound for the three or four packets he bought.

Defendant was fined $100.

2 Unusually Large Divans Raided

Two unusually large divans were raided by the anti-opium squad during the night of Tuesday, when apart from the arrest of the divan keepers, no less than 48 smokers were taken into custody and 443 pots of opium seized.

Inspector G. Davies and his party were responsible for the raid carried out on the first floor of No. 18 Chung San Street, West where they apprehended Leung King, 40, and 23 smokers.

Seizures made were 88 pots of opium, 12 pipes and 15 lamps.

Leung, who frankly admitted being the keeper, was sentenced to a prison term of nine months without the option of a fine.

All the smokers were fined $100 or one month.

When the first floor of No. 11 Kwong Yuen Street, West was raided by Inspectors F. Simpson and S. L. Thomas and party they arrested the keeper Yung Fui, 40, and 29 smokers.

Seizures made in this instance were 185 pots of opium, nine pipes and 16 lamps.

Nine months without the option of a fine was imposed on the keeper and the smokers received a fine of $100 or one month.

In both cases the opium was ordered to be confiscated and police to be served on the landlords to recover possession of the premises.

Divan Keeper Sentenced

Leung Fui, aged 30, charged before Mr. H. Lattimer at Kowloon yesterday with keeping an opium divan at 134 Temple Street, second floor, and having in possession 16 pots of prepared opium, was fined $100 or two months imprisonment on the first count and two months imprisonment on the second.

He was ordered to be expelled. One smoker found on the premises was fined $40 or one week's imprisonment, and the opium was confiscated.

Inspector J. Oram presided.

PAL Granted Air Parcel Franchise To United States

Philippine Air Lines have been granted the franchise to carry air parcels from Hong Kong to the United States under the International Air Parcels Post scheme.

Hong Kong's Postmaster General announced yesterday that the new service will be inaugurated on October 6 for the despatch of printed papers, commercial papers, parcels, etc., by air to America.

Mr. F. W. Kendall, Philippine Air Lines' Far East Traffic and Sales Manager, told the "China Mail" that credits should be given to the officials of the General Post Office and other Government departments for their foresight.

He said that in granting PAL a franchise to carry air parcels to the United States, the Hong Kong Government has given the Colony the honour of being the first foreign country to reciprocate the International Air Parcel Post scheme inaugurated at San Francisco on September 1.

Fools Proud
Mr. Kendall added that PAL feels proud to be the airline appointed to operate this service from Hong Kong to the United States.

The Philippine Air Lines will inaugurate Hong Kong's air parcel service to the United States on October 6, and thereafter operate the service twice a week. Mr. Kendall, however, said that as parcels are registered as second-class mail, there would be some delay in delivery in the United States.

PAL has been carrying air mail to Hong Kong since June last year. In the past 10 months, which included 120 flights, only two flights were missed owing to weather. "This is a record any airline would be proud of," remarked Mr. Kendall.

Two Years Ago
With headquarters at Manila, Philippine Airlines established its branch in the Colony two years ago. In this short period it has risen to be a major airline in the Pacific.

PAL operates two services a week to the United States from Hong Kong with DC-4 equipment. These services are included in the 38 scheduled flights which PAL operates in a day in different parts of the world.

Among the departures from the Peninsula Hotel on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. G. Altman, Mrs. M. Morrell, Mrs. A. E. Houseman, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Burris, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gosano, Messrs. H. T. Samson, B. Jones, E. Cooke, R. H. N. Saunders, D. Landale, and F. T. Liang.

Arrivals at the Peninsula Hotel on Tuesday included Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carey, Mrs. McGlasson, Messrs. W. C. Wayne, L. H. Chow and E. O. Waghorn.

Fined For Using Inferior Material

When the plaster came off from the panel walls of 37, Austin Road on July 27 it fell on top of a matchbox which was, fortunately, unoccupied at the time, Mr. George Fish told Mr. J. Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

Mr. Fish, of the Building Ordinance Office, was the complainant in the summons against the manager of the Shing Hing Company, 33, Gough Street, for using inferior material in the construction of 37 and 39, Austin Road.

After evidence had been heard, the magistrate imposed a fine of $1,000 after taking into consideration defendant's undertaking to re-build the walls.

During the bad weather on July 27, said Mr. Fish, the plaster came off the external walls of 37 Austin Road, a four-storey building, as the result of which the mixture used in the construction of the walls were washed away and three of the walls collapsed.

Asking for the maximum penalty of $2,000 he imposed, Mr. Fish said, "There is just one point I think I have to mention. He has to take down the panel walls and re-build them of cement mixture. The cost would be $4,000 or $5,000."

Cannot Make Order
When Mr. Fish asked for an order for the work of re-construction to be put in hand as soon as possible, the magistrate said, "I cannot make an order on this summons of using inferior materials. I can order that the walls be pulled down."

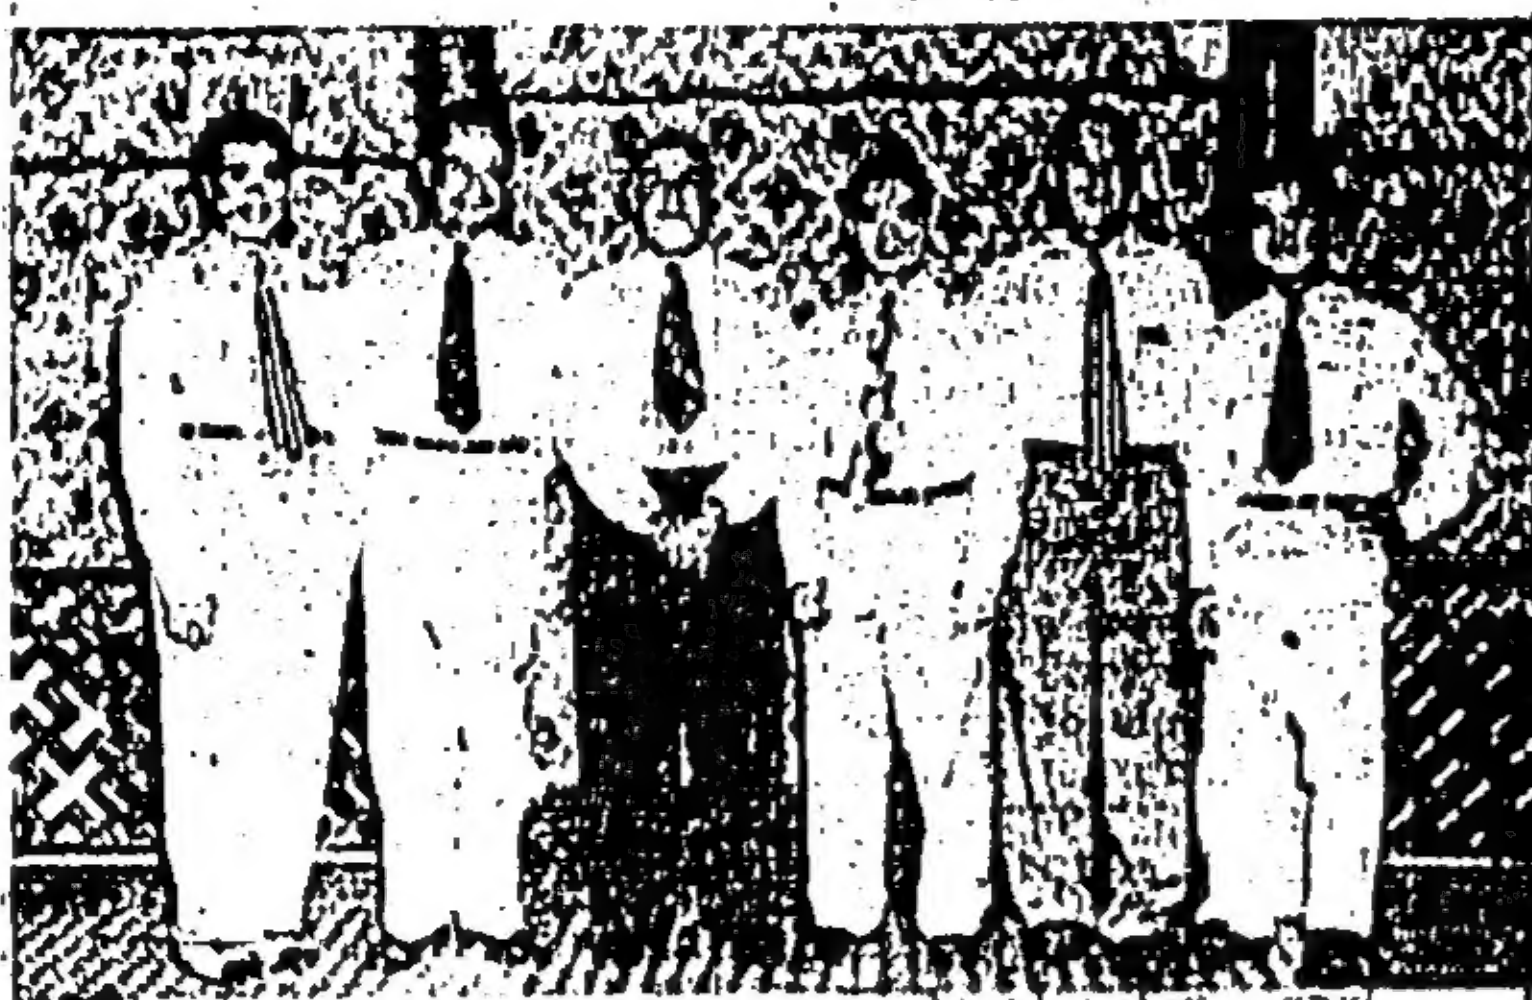

A summons against the manager of the Hop Shing Building Contractors of 128, Kiang Street was withdrawn by Mr. Fish as it could not be served.

In applying for the withdrawal, Mr. Fish said that a new summons would be applied for against a definite person and not against the manager.

The complaint against the defendant was withdrawn as the inferior material used in the construction of 37 and 39, Austin Road, was taken down on July 28, 1940 and January 10, 1941.

St. Andrew's Elects New Officers

Dr. J. W. Anderson was elected Chieftain, and Mr. J. Finnis, Vice-Chieftain, for the ensuing year, at the 63rd annual general meeting of the Hong Kong St. Andrew's Society held yesterday in Jardine Matheson's board room.

The meeting, which was attended by more than 50 local Scots, was presided over by the outgoing Chieftain, Mr. J. F. MacGregor, who reported a year of successful work and achievements.

The Society has on its roster 13 life members and 226 ordinary members. Mr. MacGregor urged all Scotsmen resident in Hong Kong to join the society which he said, reported for its income on subscriptions and entrance fees, so as to enable it to continue rendering help to any fellow countryman or woman who might be in distress.

General Fund
The Society's general fund, which was its benevolent fund, was in a satisfactory position, but if there were any serious calls it would rapidly diminish, he said.

This fund had been increased by HK$12,600 as the result of the closing down of the Hong Kong Benevolent Society, which divided its assets among the four national societies—St. George's, St. Andrew's, St. David and St. Patrick, on its understanding that the money would be devoted entirely to charity.

The memorial stone in Stanley Cemetery, which the Society is setting up in conjunction with the other national societies, would be ready in a few months, Mr. MacGregor added.

After the adoption of the report and accounts and the election of officers for the coming year, a general discussion took place.

It was decided that there should be the usual celebration this year, and that St. Andrew's ball should be held on November 28, with a religious service on the Sunday following, and a memorial service at Stanley in the afternoon.

The ball will be held at the Peninsula Hotel, and it was revealed that the hotel management has agreed to place the whole of the ground floor lounge, with the exception of the cafeteria, at the disposal of St. Andrew's.

It was also decided that St. Andrew's Plate will be run on the first race day after St. Andrew's Day.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the outgoing Chieftain.

Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year:—
Chieftain: Dr. J. W. Anderson.
Vice-Chieftain: Mr. J. Finnis.

Committee: Messrs. R. G. Craik, D. J. Gilmore, D. F. Landale, D. L. Prophet, D. S. Robb, W. A. Stewart and Professor R. K. M. Simpson.

Taxi Drivers Ask For Resumption Of Negotiations

Hong Kong's 600 striking taxi-drivers have requested that negotiations be resumed to settle the dispute between them and the taxi companies.

They have also asked that wages be paid for the period of their strike and the period during which the companies withdrew the cars from the roads.

A letter sent to the Commissioner of Labour, Mr. B. C. K. Hawkins, by the drivers requested him to try and persuade the companies to put their vehicles back into operation.

The letter stressed the inconvenience caused to the public as a result of the withdrawal of some 600 taxicabs from service, and urged that they should be put back on the road to relieve the present congestion on public cars.

The letter said that apart from the men of the Star Taxicab Company, who went on strike, vehicles were taken off the road on the order of the taxicab companies, not through any action by the drivers.

Reaction Awaited
Mr. Hawkins, it is understood, has passed the letter on to the taxicab companies, whose reaction is awaited.

Interviewed by the "China Mail" officials of the Union said the move for a settlement was made by the men out of a desire to remove the inconvenience to the travelling public caused by the shortage of public hire cars.

The drivers—some 600, have been out since September 22, when, following the strike of the Star Taxicab Company, all the taxi companies took their vehicles off the road.

Full-Scale Operations At Tai O

The police are now carrying out full-scale operations at Tai O and Cheung Chau in an attempt to capture the remaining three robbers of the band which was engaged in a gun battle at Shek-tai-wai Village, near Tai O, on Tuesday afternoon.

One of the robbers was killed by the villagers. There were seven members of the band.

Two of the alleged robbers were taken off the 9.45 a.m. Cheung Chau-Hong Kong Ferry yesterday, after being identified by one of their alleged confederates who was in the custody of the police.

A police party on a launch under Divisional Inspector Pitendry and inspectors F. Fryer and Mathison stopped the Cheung Chau ferry shortly after it left the Cheung Chau Wharf.

The three men were later brought back to Hong Kong, where they are being detained at the Water Police Station.

Another alleged member of the gang, who was wounded, is understood to be at Cheung Chau in hospital.

GENERAL MEETING

The annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Club will be held at the Helena May Institute on October 5 at 5.30 p.m. The first practice will follow the meeting.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

The Authority on Authority.

NOT THE SAME AT ALL UNWILLINGNESS to bid a four-card major suit on the first round is quite a foolish with some of today's players who have not learned from expensive experience that it is unwise, especially when opposite a partner who has the same attitude toward his response. Some of these players will tell you that they have just as good a chance to reach a fit of four cards opposite four in a major by showing the suit on the next round. But it is not true. Every once in a while they block showing the major at all.

Those who played with spades as trump made two in every instance, losing one in trumps, plus two each in the red suits. That gave them 60 for tricks plus 50 for contract, or 110. So these people tied for top, whereas the No Trumpers tied for bottom.

You will notice that unwillingness to open with a four-card major does not hurt so much if the partner will respond with one, as in No. 2. But when both shy away, it is bad.

FIRST THING EVERY MORNING ENO'S

CRIPPS CALLS ERP "KEY TO VICTORY"

Washington, September 29.

Sir Stafford Cripps on Tuesday termed the European Recovery Programme the key to victory in "a great moral struggle."

Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer said the United States fashioned the key but he asserted that material requirements alone could bring about the regeneration of the strength of Western European Democracy.

"Though we need bread for the National Press Club, upon which to live, we cannot live by bread alone," Sir Stafford said in a speech prepared for the National Press Club. "Our future hopes lie in the moral strength and spiritual courage which will be born out of the continued devotion of our people to the cause of freedom encouraged as it has been and will be by their mutual co-operation."

Despite its own economic troubles, Sir Stafford said, Britain had increased its production to a point where it was able to lend still greater help to the other nations on the continent banded under the Marshall plan.

Increase On 1938

For example, he said, production in the first half of this year was 20 per cent more than in 1938, last normal pre-war year. Machinery exports were four times those of 10 years ago.

In the face of a fuel shortage, Sir Stafford said, Britain plans to resume coal exports to the Marshall plan nations at a rate of 6,000,000 tons yearly. Oil supplies also had been made available though, he said, it would cost the United Kingdom $100,000,000 this year besides halting private motorizing there.

In addition, he said, the British Government had allotted $822,000,000 since the end of the war in loans and grants to the ERP nations. Sir Stafford said the establishment of the Economic Co-operation Administration was of historic importance.

"The future of the world and nothing less is at stake in this first essay at international control of one another's economic affairs by 10 widely different governments."

"By concentrating our joint energies," he said, "the democratic peoples can surge toward an ultimate—even if far distant—goal of a stable peace in a world united by its common humanity and no longer divided by the separate sovereignties."—Associated Press.

Comment On Malay Situation

London, September 28. Considerable uneasiness as to whether the measures taken in Malaya were as firm as the situation warranted was revealed during the debate on the subject in the House of Commons last week, says a leading article in this morning's Financial Times.

"Probably the undeniably serious position could have been prevented or greatly limited by strong action in the beginning instead of procrastination and the timidity of the authorities," the article continues.

"What matters now, however, is that trading interests have suffered damage and are likely to suffer more before order and violence are swept away."

If the terrorists succeeded in intimidating many native workers and native growers, which is obviously one of their aims, declares the writer, the results would be very far-reaching.

Meanwhile, the question of responsibility for the reimbursement of financial loss resulting from the disorders remains open.

Pointing out that the judicial pronouncement whether the present state of affairs in the country is one of insurrection or otherwise, is still awaited, the article concludes: "Surely it is time an assurance is given by the Government that special arrangements will be made to meet the losses, whatever the legal definition may ultimately be."—Reuter.

Father Shoots Barking Son

Wolfeon, Maryland, September 28. Wesley Owens, Jr., 44, can bark like a squirrel. He learned it the hard way. Hunting on his farm near here, he decided to prey on squirrels by imitating their chatter. His father, 77, who was also hunting, heard Wesley's barks and fired. Wesley, Jr., was painfully prepared in the neck with shot gun pellets. — United Press.

New Zealand Support For Britain

Wellington, September 28.

Mr. Peter Fraser, New Zealand Prime Minister, said here today that New Zealand would stand by Britain to the limits of her capacity, both in the Berlin dispute and in any other circumstances that might arise.

"This is not Munich. There will be no surrender, no retreating," he said.

"I sincerely hope that this attitude can be maintained without the world going again to the verge of disaster."

Reviewing international affairs before leaving tomorrow for the London conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers, he told the House of Representatives that the New Zealand air crews which had left to help in the Berlin air lift were a symbol of New Zealand's support for the Western Powers.

He hoped that the London Conference would show a great sense of unity than ever and that time would strengthen the bonds between the members of the Commonwealth.—Reuter.

No Practical Defence From 'A' Bomb: Doctor

Boston, September 28.

A U.S. Army doctor who witnessed the Bikini tests two years ago warned Americans today that there is no practical defence against radioactivity from the atomic bomb.

Dr. David Bradley, of San Francisco, gave the warning in his forthcoming book, "No Place to Hide," the first instalment of which appeared in the October Atlantic monthly magazine, which said his text had been passed by the Office of Information Control of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Bradley, a radiological safety officer at "Operation Crossroads," said the tests had convinced him the survival of the human race was at stake in the indiscriminate use of atomic energy for political coercion.

He said Bikini had taught, "There is no real defence against atomic weapons. There are no satisfactory counter-measures and methods of decontamination. There are no satisfactory medical or sanitary safeguards for people of atomized areas. The influence of the bomb and its unborn relatives may affect land and its wealth for centuries, through the persistence of radioactivity, and people for generations through the persistence of adverse changes in the mechanisms of heredity."

In his next instalment, Dr. Bradley will relate how soap and water and even clay failed to remove radioactivity from steel and merely soaked the poison more deeply and permanently into wood.

However, he warned, "You can't sandblast Pearl Harbor or Bremerton Shipyard or Chicago. You can't sandblast a whole ship under battle conditions."—United Press.

TRUMAN ATTACKS GOP ON RED INVESTIGATION

Oklahoma City, September 28.

President Truman today said that the Republican-inspired investigations of Communism had impeded the Federal Bureau of Investigation and damaged national security.

Mr. Truman denied that Communism was a powerful force in America and asked the nation to consider the "damage that is being done to our national security by irresponsible persons who place their own political interests above the security of nations."

In the biggest speech to date in his 18-State campaign tour, Mr. Truman replied to Republican charges that he had codified the Communists.

The President told an Oklahoma State Fair audience that the Republicans had raised the Communist question as a smoke screen. He claimed that Republican leaders had "impair[ed] our nation's atomic energy programme by their intemperate and unjustified attacks on our atomic scientists."

"I charge they have not produced any significant information about Communist espionage which the FBI did not already have. I charge the Republicans have attempted to usurp constitutional functions of the Federal Grand Juries and Courts."

Party Not Hurt

"I charge them with having trampled on the individual principles which distinguish American ideals from totalitarian doctrine. I charge finally that in all this they have not hurt the Communist Party. They helped it."

He also stated that the Republican Party was an unwitting ally of the Communists in this country. To support his argument, he cited figures to show that Communism reached its greatest popularity in 1932, when the Communist Party polled more than 10,000 votes.

"That was at the bottom of the worst depression this country has ever known," he said, adding that the Republican depression was brought about by 12 years of Republican indifference to the needs of the people.

Mr. Truman said the Communists were backing the Progressive Party because they wanted a Republican victory in November.

Germans Lose Case

Washington, September 28.

Twenty-one Germans convicted in Shanghai as war criminals lost a court action here yesterday to require their release from prison in Germany.

The men were convicted by a US military court in Shanghai on charges of continuing military activity after the German surrender.

They sought a district court order here requiring their release from Landsberg prison in the US zone of Germany because they were not tried by a Chinese or international court.

Judge Edward A. Tamm, in dismissing the action brought by Lohr Eisenberger and 20 others, held he was without jurisdiction in the matter.—Associated Press.

IT'LL BE LONELY

Nanking, September 28. The Ministry of National Defense in a move to improve the mobility and fighting ability of its armies ordered troops not to take their wives and families with them into frontline areas.

Families who commonly follow troops, maintaining a semblance of normal life with officers and men, will hereafter be given collective quarters in appropriate areas, the order said.—Associated Press.

Smugglers In Gas Warfare
Bangkok, September 29.
Opium smugglers in Siam have taken to gas warfare. Customs searchers combing the engine room of a vessel here momentarily halted when a motor pumped out white fumes, including carbon monoxide into their faces. One of the smugglers had diverted the exhaust from a fume.

The Customs Inspectors pushed through the fumes and found 100 kilograms of opium in an oil tank.—Associated Press.

"HAD ENOUGH OF HITLERISM AND FASCISM," SAYS SPAAK

Disarmament Proposal On Agenda

Paris, September 28. The plenary session of the United Nations General Assembly today formally placed on its agenda the Soviet proposal that the Big Five powers cut their armed forces by one-third within one year.

There was no debate when the UN Steering Committee's recommendation was put to the plenary session. That makes the number of items on the agenda 70.

Approval of the recommendation does not imply support for the actual proposal.

The full-nation Assembly acted 45 minutes after its Steering Committee had recommended that the Big Five powers cut their armed forces by one-third within one year.

With the Western powers in the lead, the Assembly is expected ultimately to reject the disarmament scheme, or to accept it only on terms which hereafter have been unacceptable to Moscow.—United Press.

Kuomintang Party Chest

Nanking, September 28. The Kuomintang authorities last night called upon all members to make self-sacrifices and contribute to the party chest with a goal set at 2,000,000 gold yuan.

The party, which under the Constitution is no longer able to operate on Government funds, prescribed a one-month limit for making special contributions by its members to the financial drive.

The campaign is sponsored by a Soliciting Committee which includes high Government officials such as the Premier, Dr. Wang Wen-hua, General Chiang Chün, ex-Premier, General Ho Ying-chin, Dr. Sun Fo and Dr. Chen Li-fu.—Reuter-AAP.

Test Of Communism Not For West

Paris, September 28.

M. Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, told the United Nations General Assembly today that Europe had "had enough of Hitlerism and Fascism," and did not "need to submit itself now to any totalitarian regime."

"It is we who wish the free circulation of human beings," he added amid cheers.

"As long as any nation or country wishes to impose its will over the majority of the nations, this organization will not give all the results we had hoped it would give."

Fifth Column

"We fear you because in every country you are maintaining a Fifth Column beside which the Hitlerite Fifth Column was nothing more than a Boy Scout organization," M. Spaak added.

There was not a single country in the world, including Asia and Africa, where the Soviet Government represented a danger to the West, he said.

M. Spaak characterized Soviet attacks on the Marshall Plan, which he said, was "Europe's only hope of salvation," as the most brutal that could be imagined. This was another reason, he added, why they were afraid.

The Belgian delegate then asked: "Does my speech mean that all is lost? Of course not. I believe we are too close to the truth through, too close to our own, our orphans and widows, to be insincere when we speak of peace and co-operation."

They should begin with a spectacular coup, a compromise, if they failed to achieve that, compromise they failed to speak a common language.

Colombia's Belief

Dr. Roberto Arango, the Colombian delegate, flung his country's belief in freedom and deplored the tendency for great and powerful nations to interfere in the affairs of others.

He recommended that the United Nations should not interfere in the internal affairs of Spain.

The Brazilian Foreign Minister, Dr. Paul Fernandes, told the Assembly that it was not and should not be a clearing-house to settle international disputes by mutual concessions and compensation, nor a court of law fit to render decrees.

It was rather a forum where every nation should on occasions plead its own cause before world opinion and should always plead that of justice, equity and liberty.

Mr. J. A. Beasley, Australian, said that his delegation would bring up before the United Nations the applications for membership of Italy, Eire, Finland, Portugal, Transjordan and Ceylon.

Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King (Canada), in the morning session of the Assembly, said that some nations might be compelled to rely for their security on regional friendships until the United Nations could develop security on a universal basis.

He was following up the point made by Mr. Ernest Bevin yesterday.

"The United Nations, still in its youth, could learn from the older institution, the British Commonwealth of Nations, on the questions of international co-operation and security," Mr. Mackenzie King declared.

"Security for individual nations can be assured only by the effective co-operation and the united power of those nations whose determination to maintain their freedom constitutes a strong bond of community between them," he said. "It is not surprising, therefore, that some nations should seek to achieve their security on a less than universal basis."

Atomic Energy

Of atomic energy, Mr. Mackenzie King said that "the hope of the world was on the United Nations."

Workers Not Permitted In Armed Forces

London, September 29.

The Ministry of Labour issued last night a list of Britain's workers in vital industries who will be barred from volunteering for new armed reserve forces now or in the very early stages of any emergency.

The ban applied to people holding jobs which would be of exceptional national importance.

The new reserve scheme announced last week in Parliament applies to volunteers, mainly ex-servicemen over 35 years old. They may be called to duty on short notice in case of emergency.

Last night's order will still permit essential workers to join regular armed forces or the territorial army.

Critical sources have emphasized that the emergency reserve plan is in no way a call for mobilisation.

Among the workers barred from the reserve plan are miners, farmers, steel and other metal manufacturing industries, railway operators, shipyard workers, merchant seamen, firemen, and police, oil workers, civil airline, field and control staff and full-time employees of the Navy, War Office, Air Ministry and of Supply.

The Ministry of Supply controls government research work and operates research stations dealing with atomic energy, rocket propulsion and aircraft construction.—Associated Press.

Nations "as the one world organization capable of establishing international control."

After recalling that the Russian delegate, Mr. Vyshinsky, had said in his speech last Saturday that after 30 months of work by the Atomic Energy Commission there had been no positive results, Mr. Mackenzie King said: "We sought to blame the United States for the failure. The facts show conclusively that not only has the United States striven earnestly for a solution, but that they have unhesitatingly offered to give to the world the far-reaching advantages which came to them in consequence of their vast efforts in this field during the late war."

He said the report of the Atomic Energy Commission supported "by Canada, constituted the only method—by which these new dread forces may properly be brought under effective control in the interests of peace and wellbeing of all the peoples of the world."

(The report has been opposed by the Soviet Union on the grounds that general discussion of all armaments should come before control of atomic weapons).

Plan To Evacuate Half A Million Berliners Denied

London, September 28. A London evening paper report from Paris that the Western powers are planning the evacuation of 500,000 Germans from Berlin was denied at the Foreign Office today.

A spokesman said that on September 14, the British Military Government in Berlin announced that it was willing to help sick Berliners and undernourished children to travel to Western Germany.

"There is no plan whatsoever at this time to evacuate anyone except an estimated 10,000 children and tubercular cases for whom specialised treatment is not available. To accommodate these, 80 seats a day are being provided in air-lift planes leaving the city," the spokesman said.

He added: "No plan other than this exists at present for the evacuation of Germans from Berlin. Even this scheme is purely voluntary and the numbers involved are necessarily small."—Reuter.

WEST NOTE LIKELY TABLED NEXT MONDAY

Paris, September 28. The joint British, French and United States note to the United Nations Secretary, Mr. Trygve Lie, officially asking for the Berlin dispute to be placed before the Security Council will be handed in tomorrow afternoon, it was learned here tonight.

Allowing for the statutory three days between notification and hearing, the question is likely to be tabled next Monday.

Legal experts attached to the various United Nations delegations and organisations are anticipating a tough legal fight, with the Soviet delegation contesting the right of the Western Powers under the United Nations Charter to bring a German problem to the United Nations, as the first stage in the United Nations phase of the Berlin crisis.

Moscow, and Russian propaganda, in general, headed by the Soviet-controlled press and radio in Berlin, has consistently taken the line that both the United Nations Charter and the agreements between the occupying powers rule out the legal possibility of referring German questions to the United Nations.

The three articles upon which Mr. Andre Vyshinsky, leader of the Soviet delegation and former Soviet public prosecutor, is likely to base his legal case are Articles 33, 40 and 42.

Article 33 calls upon member states, who are parties to a dispute whose continuance threatens international peace, to use all peaceful means of settlement or mediation of their own choice before taking the dispute to the Security Council.

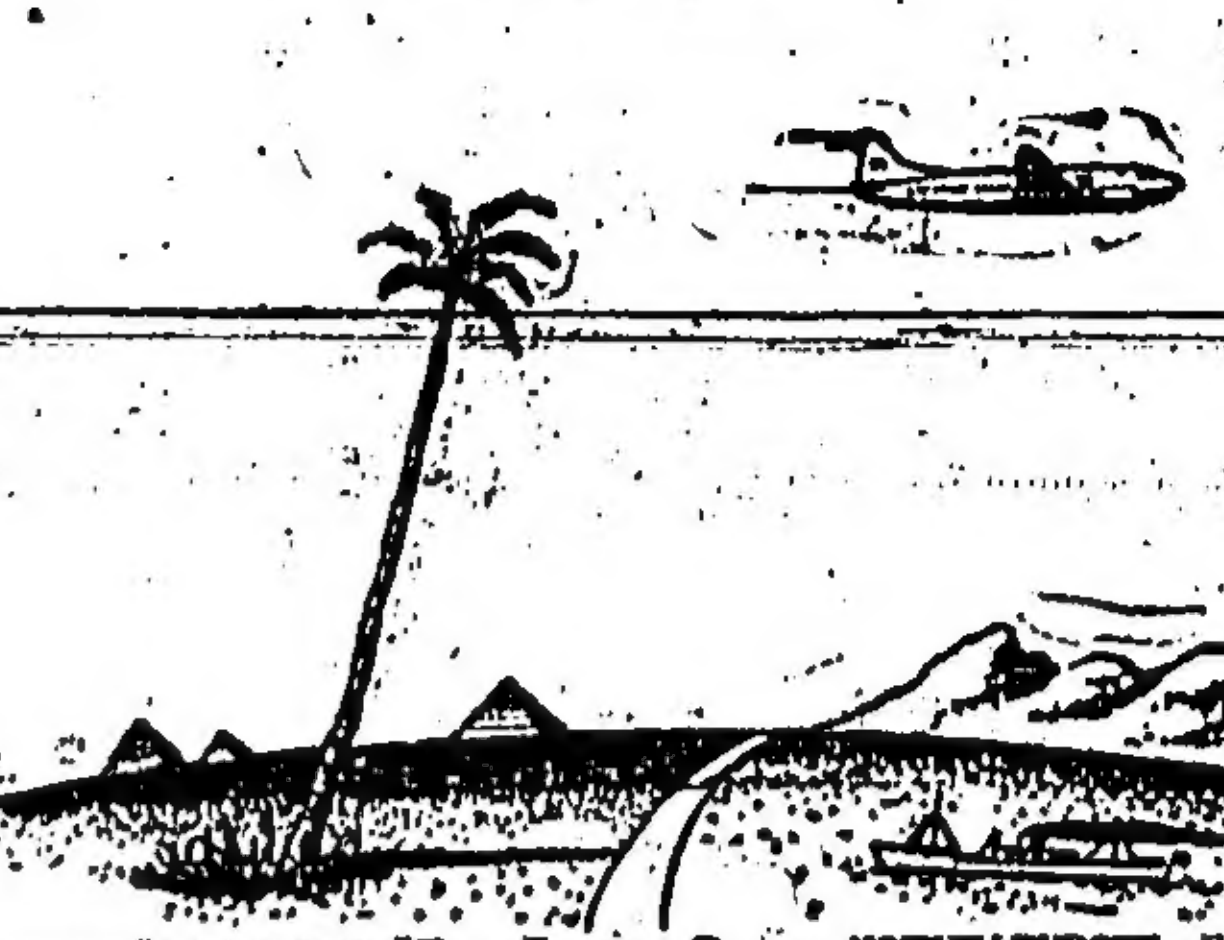

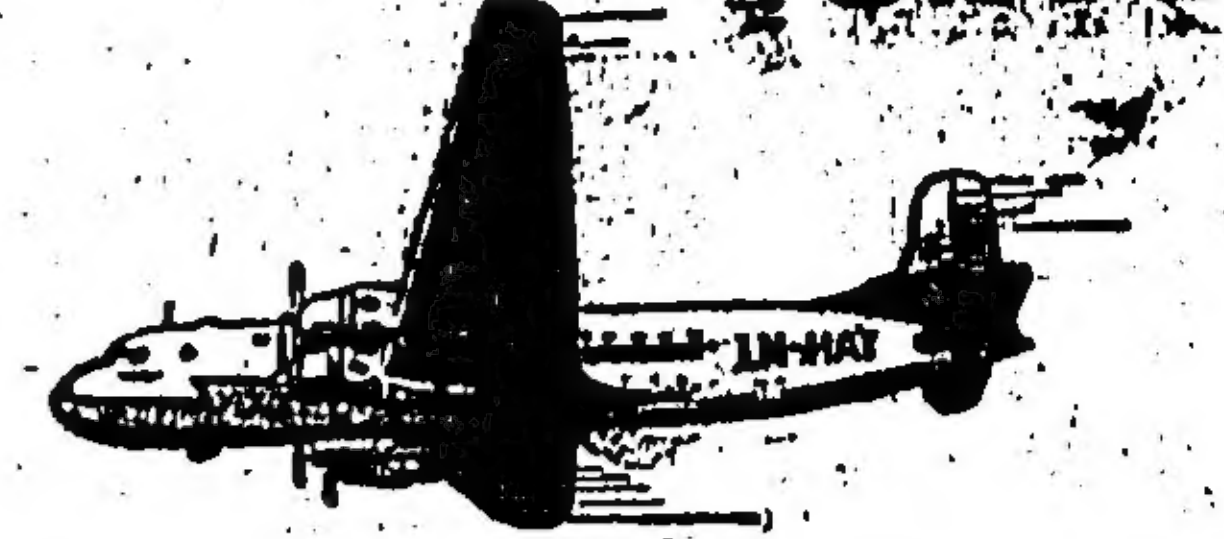

Russian Claims

Soviet propaganda claims that the Western Powers have failed to do this and are deliberately seeking a rupture of the four-power negotiations in Moscow and Berlin which, if they had been pursued in good faith, could have led to agreement.

The Western Powers, in their note to Moscow, say that these methods have been exhausted and can have no further usefulness in view of the present situation in Berlin and its possible effect on the maintenance of peace.

Article 40 binds America, Britain and Russia, as signatories of the Moscow agreement of October 20, 1945, and

ALTERNATING MOTOR DESIGNS [PROGRESS]

Type "D.L." starter fitted with triple pole fuse chamber (complete with fuses).

The control-gear manufacturer, on the other hand, has not made the same rapid progress and, until the advent of Crabtree automatic protective control gear, it was customary for the control gear manufacturer specially to design and manufacture a starter for every type of motor.

There was very little progress in standardising, over a wide range of horse-power sizes, such important components as tractive coils, baseplates, fixer, and moving contacts, and overload release units. Yet standardisation of components is, to the industrial engineer, of vital importance.

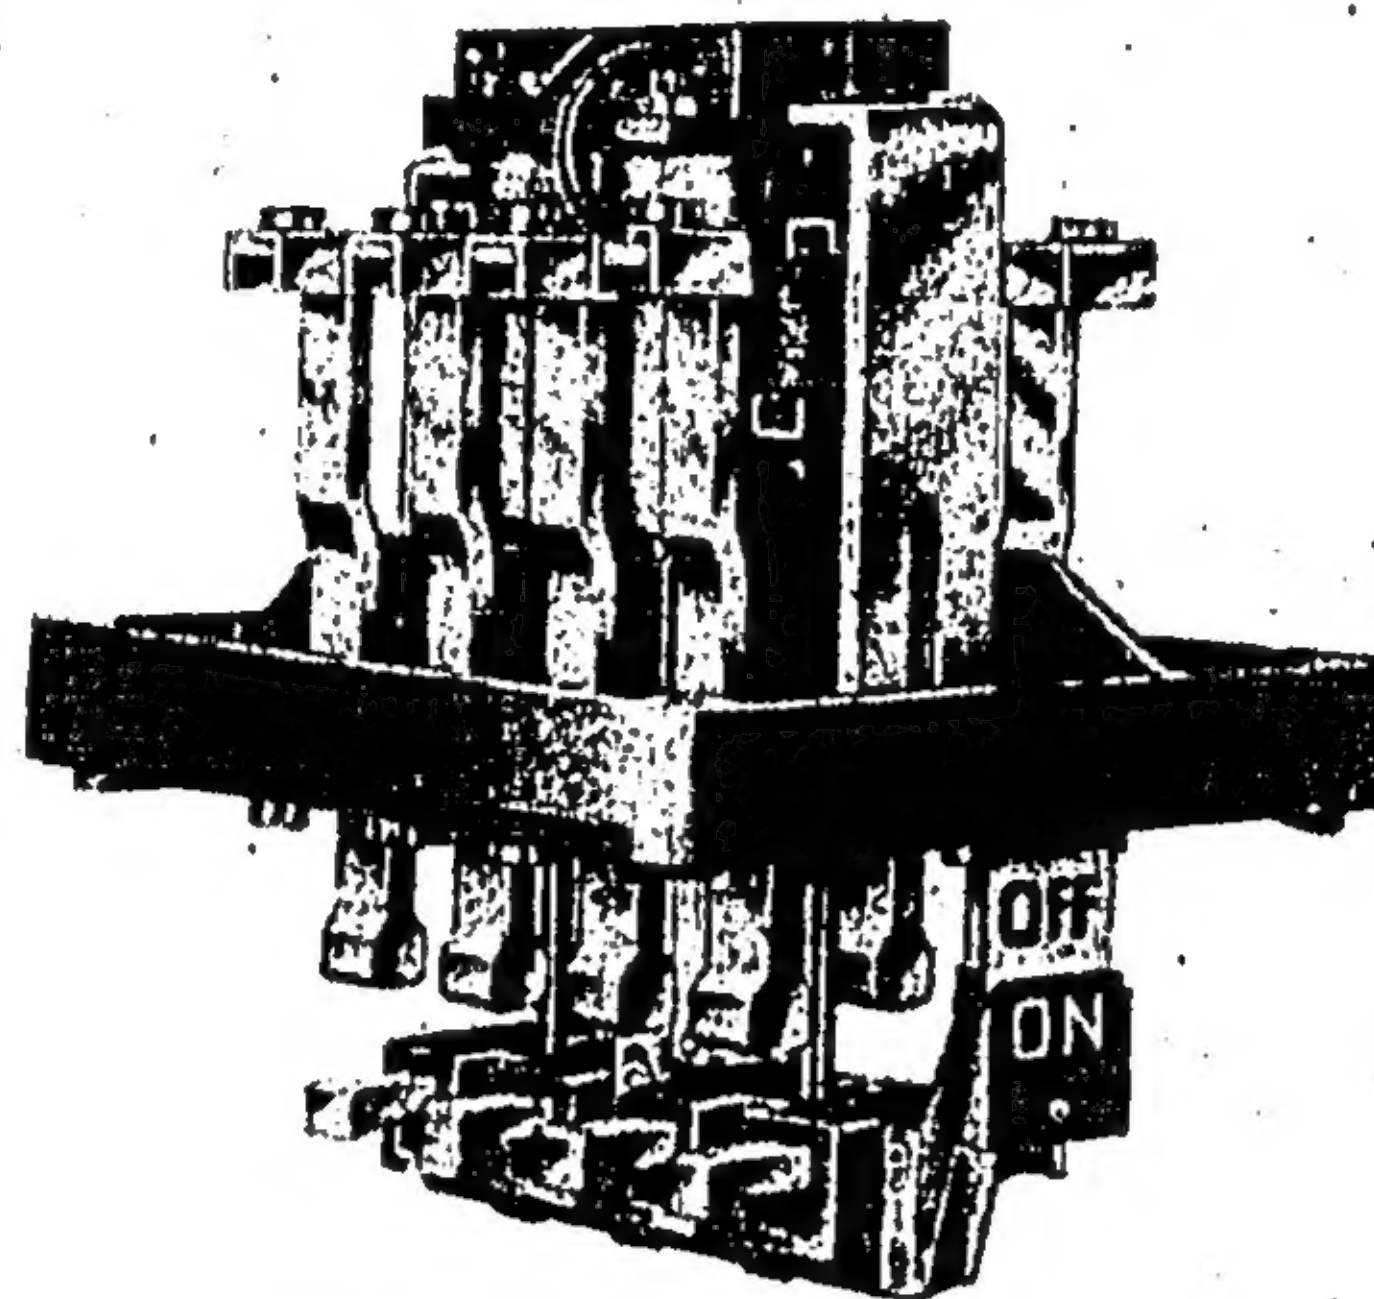

In a large works there may be twenty or more variations in the windings of all motors employed on machine-tools, pumps, shafting drives and other duties. If a different type of starter is employed, not only for each of these variations but also for each size of motor, then maintenance becomes a complex, troublesome and costly problem.

To appreciate what the Crabtree principle of design entails, it is necessary first to realise how small a number of components are employed in the entire range of starters.

There are, in fact, just fifty-two of them. Fifty-two is not a large number of components, even for a single product. Yet these fifty-two simple components are so designed that it is possible to assemble from them a range of starters for service on alternating current supply systems of up to 500 volts in types for "direct-on-line," reversing, and two-, three- and four-speed control for motors of up to 25 amps., and in automatic and semi-automatic star-delta types for motors of up to 43 amps.

Within the past few years the design of alternating current motors has progressed to such an extent that the laboratory has given place to the workshop.

Designs that were looked upon as interesting experiments have become commonplace practice, and the motor manufacturer has so perfected his productive methods that an extensive variety of types can be achieved without disturbing the fundamental basis of design.

The standard unit or "base" used by Crabtree & Co. in the assembly of any type of starting switch. In conjunction with a small number of standard components this enables a great variety of starting arrangements to be evolved on a uniform basis.

The range complies with British Standard Specification No. 775, with I.E.E. regulations and with the requirements of various Government Departments at home and overseas. In the assembly of any type of starting switch the Crabtree technique is to employ a standard unit or "base" in conjunction with a small number of standard components. From these a great variety of starting arrangements can be evolved on a uniform basis.

The Crabtree range of automatic control gear embodies many original features—in particular, a patented form of overload protection which provides compensation for widely varying temperatures.

This makes the equipment especially suitable for providing accurate overload protection in any country or any situation where a widely varying external temperature has previously made the use of thermal type protective units impossible.

A high degree of standardisation has also been achieved in the subsidary equipment available for use with the basic "Standard" unit.

This is suitable for mounting to hollow panels and machine castings, but it can also be supplied with a conduit entry box, with a fuse chamber (complete with high rupturing capacity cartridge fuse), with an isolating switch, or with a combined fuse chamber and isolating switch.

It should be noted that, when this type of gear is employed for direct control, any number of remote control switches can be provided.

Where electric motors are protectively controlled by Crabtree automatic starters, remote control can be provided quite simply and inexpensively, since it is merely necessary to employ a switch or switches capable of making and breaking the solenoid circuit.

The most important advantage of push-button remote control units is, of course, the extremely high margin of safety which their employment ensures.

Such units place the control of machine-tools at the finger-tips of the operator and thus enable attention to be concentrated upon the work in progress. This greatly reduces the number of accidents which might otherwise occur.

A new high-speed photo-electric transmitter which can transmit messages at the rate of 800 words a minute was demonstrated recently in London by Cable and Wireless Limited.

The demonstration took place in the library of Britain's Institution of Civil Engineers.

Among other exhibits was a General Post Office submarine telephone repeater, which increases the number of telephone circuits carried by one cable from 24 to 48. The London Fire Brigade showed a model of the latest enclosed pump, while the Fire Research Organisation exhibited a model of an apparatus for the protection of dipping tanks containing inflammable liquids, using a new method of producing fire-fighting foam with compressed air. Another fire-fighting exhibit was a new self-contained breathing apparatus using compressed air, reasonably light in weight and giving an air supply for more than 30 minutes.

Other exhibits included a hygrometer for measuring the dewpoint in confined spaces, and an apparatus to measure the electrical resistance of railway sleepers already laid, in order to detect sleepers having unusually low resistances. Such sleepers cause difficulties in track circuiting.

There was an apparatus designed to simulate the slight relative movement between two adjacent panels of a railway carriage in motion. In practice, this movement makes paint stoppings and fillings work loose.

There was a model of a new pump, the capacity of which may be varied while the pump is running. There were instruments for testing concrete, for measuring the aerodynamic oscillations of suspension bridges, and studying the cutting action of wood machine tools. Most of these instruments are so far in model form only, but information about them may be obtained from the Institution of Civil Engineers, Great George Street, London, S.W.1.

An interesting ceremony took place during the exhibition, when the library was connected with Barbados, British West Indies, 4,000 miles away, by wireless telegraphy and Sir Robert Hetherington, the President of the Institution, sent a message of greetings to the senior member of the Institution in Barbados. This facility was provided by Cable and Wireless, who exhibited the sending and receiving instruments of one channel of their overseas telegraph circuit.

Atomic Pile Safeguards.

Britain's second atomic pile, with a rated output of 6,000 kilowatts, has begun operating at Harwell, Berkshire, England. A lattice of uranium rods is surrounded by several hundred tons of graphite blocks. These "moderators" regulate the speed of the neutrons, which, flying about like bullets within the pile, maintain the process of atomic fission. The new pile will provide radio-active material sufficient for all probable needs in atomic experimentation in the near future. It will also provide radio-active isotopes for medical research and data for research on power problems.

The pile is surrounded by a concrete shield several feet thick to protect workers from radiation. The uranium atoms create atomic energy and release immense heat, and the pile is therefore cooled by air discharged through a 200-foot chimney. Instruments are installed to give warning, day or night, of any dangerous escape of radio activity from the pile, and these shut down the plant automatically to prevent injury to workers. This safeguard has been considered desirable, though scientists believe that the concrete is thick enough to imprison all radio-active particles.

The concrete shield is pierced by about 40 holes, which give access to the strong fluxes of neutrons in the interior. These neutron fluxes, or streams, many times more intense than can be obtained in any other way, will be used for converting common elements into radio-active "tracers," and for many lines of research, notably on the behaviour of materials under intense neutron bombardment. Britain's second atomic pile is a link in the chain of piles to be built for large-scale atomic power production.

Echo Fishing Experiment.

Five fishermen from England's most South-Western county of Cornwall went recently to Scotland to take part in an experiment. Fishing boats working off the shores of Scotland have been equipped with echo-sounder gear to be used for pilchard fishing. The latest echo-sounding installation consists of a transmitter, which periodically sends out a pulse of vibration of supersonic frequency, downwards from the ship's hull; this is produced either by "magnetostriction" or by the use of the "piezo-electric effect"; and of a receiver which receives the echo from the bottom of the sea, both instruments being connected to the recorder. In that instrument the emission of the pulse starts a pointer moving across a roll of paper, while the echo is amplified to pass a current from the pointer through the paper, marking the paper in the process.

The distance the pointer had moved when the mark was recorded can be read off directly as the depth of water; it is not only accurate to about an inch in shallow water, but it also indicates the presence of shoals of fish. Thus the echo-sounder gear enables "blind" fishing to be carried out at night. The new method is expected to double pilchard catches during the coming season.

New Soldering Gun

A new pistol-grip electric soldering gun, weighing less than two-and-a-half-pound, has been developed by the Burgoyne Engineering Company Limited, of 1 Robert Street, Hampstead Road, London, N.W.1. Requiring about 90 watts when in operation, the new soldering gun is designed for 50 to 100 cycle alternating current mains, and two models are made, one for a 200 to 250 volts, and the other for a 100 to 130 volts supply. A spring-loaded push button switch is provided; this is operated like a trigger so that power is automatically switched off when finger pressure is released. The gun consists essentially of a transformer with a secondary winding which passes through a renewable soldering bit, all windings are asbestos lined, and the transformer itself is housed in an asbestos-lined bakelite case. This forms the body of the gun, and is provided with air-cooling vents. The bit is a narrow V-shaped loop of thick copper wire, the ends of which are screwed into two parallel metal pillars projecting barrel-like from the body of the gun. The bit, which operates at a potential of less than one volt, is insulated from the case, and is not connected to the mains supply. It can therefore be used to work on low voltage live circuits. The gun is ready for soldering after a warming up period of about seven seconds, and it is suitable for all forms of soldering for which an iron of about 100 watts capacity can be used.

Hara Kiri But No Apology

Sapporo, Japan, September 28. The 37-year-old father of the confessed poison-slayer of 12 bank employees promised today to commit hara kiri and atone for the crime. Despite the decision, however, the father, Shota Hirasawa, said: "I have no apology to offer the world for my son."—United Press.

FRENCH PRESS CONDEMNS

Paris, September 28. The extreme Left and Right Wings of the French press today expressed disapproval of the three Western powers' decision to take the German issue before the Security Council, and even the centre press was only passively in support of such action.

The Communist L'Humanite accused the Western powers of trying to disqualify the United Nations, saying that they know "perfectly well that the Council will come to no solution." The extreme Rightwing Europe said: "We expect to see France associating herself in an action which embodies more risks than chances of peace."

The Leftwing Combat said: "The West has refused to enter into major discussions for minor reasons." The Western powers have stayed at the same level as the military men in Berlin. How can one work out a long term policy if visibility is reduced to the dimensions of an alleyway?"

Commenting on Mr. Bevin's speech, the Russian news agency, Tass, said: "Aware of the weakness of his stand, Mr. Bevin ventured on a risky theoretical analysis in the field of Marxism-Leninism."

"Sheer Fraud" Since his chief purpose was to sow doubts about the Soviet Union's willingness peacefully to co-operate with all other countries he did not stop even at sheer fraud.

"He served the Assembly with a quotation at random from Lenin's report to the 18th Congress of the Russian Communist Party of March 18, 1919, which speaks of the inevitability of a series of clashes between the Soviet Republic and bourgeois states, and says that the ruling class—the proletariat—if it wants to rule, must prove it by its military organisation as well."

"While making use of this wantonly torn out quotation, Mr. Bevin concealed from his audience that when dealing with the building of the Red Army, Lenin emphasised that what was involved was the self-defence of the Soviet Republic against the intervention of the bourgeois states."

"Mr. Bevin concealed from his audience that Lenin warned the workers and peasants of the young Soviet state that it was necessary to be on guard because 'we are surrounded by people, by classes, by governments, who are openly displaying the utmost hatred against us, and it is necessary to remember that we are separated only by a hair's breadth from every kind of invasion.'—Reuter.

Reopening Of American Investment In Japan

Washington, September 29. A group of US businessmen called upon the US and Japanese Governments yesterday to reopen the way for American investments in Japan to assist her economic recovery.

In a report to the US State, Commerce and Army Departments, the Far East American Council of Commerce and Industry asked that the Japanese reparations issue be decided as soon as possible, and that a practical exchange rate for conversion of Yen into foreign currencies be established.

Addressing itself to the Japanese Government the council said the Japanese Diet, with SCAP approval should permit immediate resumption of banking, insurance and similar services in Japan by foreign entities.

The council is an association of United States firms interested in Japanese and world trade. Its headquarters are in New York City.

The Council said, "needs in Japan for foreign capital are almost without limit, and many American businessmen seem interested in making substantial investments there of long range nature."

Nanking, September 29. The Chinese Communists have built up a highly efficient worldwide intelligence and propaganda machine to supplement their present armed attempt to overthrow President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime. They are also employing this machine among Asiatic races to imitate Russia's ideological expansion in Eastern Europe.

Chinese intelligence reports say that the mastermind directing the machine is Chou En-lai, No. 2 Chinese Red who was the chief Communist representative in the Marshall-mediated days. He pilots the programme in his position as Minister of Overseas Activities of the Communist Politburo.

These reports say that the Chinese international machine is charged with the triple work of collecting intelligence regarding foreign powers, planning Communism and instigating local revolts among natives in the South East, and efforts to alienate overseas Chinese from the Nanking Government.

Intelligence sources here said that Chou En-lai has stationed eight representatives in foreign countries to direct the task of ideological expansion.

They are Hu Ke in New York, Chiao Mu in Hong Kong, Li Kang in Europe, Chen Nan-min in Southeast Asia, Chou Pin in Japan, Chen Mien in Burma, Wu Jen-fang in Indo-China and Yang Chi-yang in Siam.

The main branches of the organisations were said to be New York and Hong Kong.

Established 1948

The New York organisation was described as established in May 1948 by Hu Ke with the co-operation of another Chinese leftist, Chi Fang, who is a liaison official in the United States for the Chinese Farmers and Labourers Democratic Party.

Chi Fang has now been appointed adviser of the Communist New China News Agency in Hong Kong and is also the Agency's special correspondent in America.

The New York organisation, according to intelligence reports, is engaged in:

1. Agitation against American aid to China;
2. Supporting Mr. Henry A. Wallace's Third Party;
3. Collecting statistics on American production;
4. Closely watching the American people's attitude toward China's civil war;
5. Collecting information on Canadian aid to China;
6. Collecting intelligence on all other political, military, economic and diplomatic matters.

The principal machinery of Communist overseas organisations in Southeast Asia is at Hong Kong. Chiao Mu, who is the head of the Hong Kong office, maintains direct contact with Chou En-lai.

But that part of overseas Communist activities considered to be of greatest significance to the Nanking government comes from Indo-China.

Intelligence reports said that the Chinese Communist, Wu Jen-

Very Foreign Currency

Shanghai, September 29. More than $10,000 worth of counterfeit United States dollar notes were received by the Central Bank in the past few days from people surrendering foreign currency holdings, it was learned today.

Most of the forged greenbacks were $20 and $50 denominations but they were easily detectable as counterfeits on close scrutiny, according to bank officials.

The notes bear on the upper left-hand corner a serial number beginning with "L 12" and down on the left-hand side the digit "D 21."

REPATRIATION DELAY CRITICISED BY SCAP

Tokyo, September 28. The official spokesman of General Douglas MacArthur last night again criticised the Russians for failing to repatriate Japanese prisoners of war. This encouraged Japanese who are demonstrating here against Soviet failure to live up to their promise to send the Japanese home.

Caustic Answer Published

Washington, September 28. The State Department today published a caustic diplomatic exchange with Bulgaria over that Red-dominated country's complaint that Greek troops were concentrating along her borders.

Bulgaria had protested to the United Nations against alleged Greek concentrations. The Department said the American Legation at Sofia suggested on August 28 that Bulgaria refer the complaint to the special United Nations Balkan Committee which had accused Bulgaria of helping the Greek guerrillas in the civil war against the Greek government.

The Legation added that if Bulgaria did not want to call in the United Nations Committee, the United States would be pleased to send American officials to carry out investigation.

Bulgaria replied early on September 11 that the United States was well aware of the Sofia Government's objections to the United Nations committee.

It added that the United States equally well that the Bulgarian Government declined all demands for investigation along the Greco-Bulgarian frontier by the military attaches of the United States and Great Britain.

—United Press.

The spokesman, commenting on the mass meeting and hunger strike by the All-Japan Federation for the Acceleration of Repatriation of Japanese Abroad, said: "This demonstration is indicative of the deep feelings on, and the tremendous political implications of, the problems of repatriation from the Soviet Union and Soviet-controlled areas which is being delayed by the Soviet authorities."

The SCAP spokesman recalled SCAP's offer a year ago of further shipping adequate to return up to 100,000 repatriates per month, which never had been accepted or acknowledged by the Soviets.

He emphasized that mass repatriation from all areas under United States control and Allied nations other than the USSR had long since been completed.

In conclusion, the spokesman stated he hoped that the meeting's spirits would find appeal among other Japanese and that members of the Federation would continue their efforts in clarifying SCAP's position to returning prisoners.

The statement came in the wake of a mass meeting held in front of the Imperial Palace by 4,000 representatives of families from all parts of Japan clamouring for repatriation, within one year, of relatives still detained in Soviet-controlled territories.

ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS WELL PREPARED

Genoa, September 27. Six hundred Italians, planning to settle in Argentina, today sailed for the South American Republic with a complete town of pre-fabricated houses in the holds of the lines "Genova".

The immigrants hope to set up the town in the land of their choice—Tierra Del Fuego, in Argentina's southern tip.

Dismantled factories also lie in the holds in pieces numbered in readiness for reconstruction.

US Cracks Down On Soviet Smuggling

Berlin, September 28.

The Americans today cracked down on large-scale Soviet smuggling of such critical items as food and coal from the United States sector of Berlin to the Russian sector and to the Red Zone of Germany.

The German police reported that they had halted and confiscated 28 Soviet trucks crossing the American sector and headed toward Russian-occupied territory loaded with timber, newsprint and coal. The trucks were from Magdeburg, Potsdam and Leipzig, all in the Soviet Zone. The police said: "Their documents were not in order."

At Frankfurt, the United States Consular official announced that four American soldiers were arrested by the Russians early Monday morning when their jeep took a wrong turn into the Soviet Zone. An American-Russian liaison team is negotiating for their release.

Mr. A. W. Moran, head of the Economic Department of the American Military Government's Berlin sector, said a drive against Soviet smuggling had been ordered to prevent the heavy drain of critical items in the sector.

"Obviously, when we are flying food and other supplies into Berlin to keep our sector of the city alive, we can't permit such smuggling operations to go on."

Mr. Moran said Soviet operators had contracted certain warehouses in the United States sector and arranged deals which diverted food, manufactured products and raw materials into the thriving black market in the Russian part of the city and the Russian Zone.

In the yard of Zehlendorf police station, trucks arrived

Clouds Around Belgian Cabinet

Brussels, September 28.

Clouds are gathering on Belgium's political horizon around the Coalition Government of Prime Minister Paul Henri Spaak.

The main criticisms against Spaak's 18-month-old Government concern high taxation, its education policy, the slowness of the post-war housing programme and its divided attitude toward the possible restoration of King Leopold III to the throne. Associated Press.

Belgians have an acute realization of the dangers of the current international situation and apparently few want to see the present coalition of Socialists and Social Christians (Progressive Catholics) thrown out and replaced by another administration of the same type.

"What good would that do?" they ask. "We do not want to get like France."

Excess Posts

One suggestion from Socialist circles, which also seems to have met with some approval among the Catholics, is for the scrapping of what have been called the useless ministries. These are the Ministry of the Budget (Socialist), Ministry of Food and Supplies (non-party), Ministry of Economic Co-ordination (Socialist) and Ministry of Coal and Fuels (Socialist).

Such a reduction in the number of Government departments, it is felt, would suit the views of Prime Minister Spaak himself, who always has favoured a small and compact Cabinet better able to make quick decisions on important problems.

"With the growing unpopularity of the present combination it is time to give the younger ministers a chance," a prominent Socialist said in an interview. "It would give public opinion a psychological jolt which it badly needs."

SERVE YOURSELF IN BRITAIN

London, September 28. The introduction of Self-Service stores on a wide scale in Britain to conserve labour and reduce costs was advocated today at a Labour Party annual conference of women by Mrs. Margaret Allen, the chairman. Self-service stores, which are now being tried out experimentally by a co-operative union of which Mrs. Allen is an official. She said that shoppers have indicated their approval of the experiment.

The Adventures Of ROBIN HOOD

THE STORY THIS FAR: King Richard, leaving for the Crusades in 1191, put England under a Regency, entrusting his kingly duties to his brother, Prince John. During a feast before the latter, the Robin of Locksley, a swash-buckling young man, won the admiration of the king's daughter, the Lady Marian. The king's daughter, the Lady Marian, was betrothed to Prince John. Robin, who was a man of great courage and skill, decided to take the throne for himself. He and his band of outlaws, the Merry Men, decided to take the throne for himself. He and his band of outlaws, the Merry Men, decided to take the throne for himself.

CHAPTER IV

"Quick, Men! Quick! They've got a traitor inside!"
Sir Robin of Locksley, having that moment darted through the castle door and rushed to the tower. He found the traitor, a man who had been hiding in the tower. He and his band of outlaws, the Merry Men, decided to take the throne for himself.

Again the deadly bowstring twanged and Sir Ivor lay dead with an arrow through his heart. Sir Baldwin reared his horse for a moment then sprang down. He found the traitor, a man who had been hiding in the tower. He and his band of outlaws, the Merry Men, decided to take the throne for himself.

When morning gilded the blowing greenery of Sherwood Forest and set the dewdrops sparkling. Robin was striding steadily along the mossy floor, while Will stumbled sleepily after. "A night's sleep, stretching himself, 'Tired? After such a refreshing sleep in the merry greenwood? Why, I..."
Suddenly Robin stopped and stared ahead of him. They had come to a stream which was bridged by a fallen tree and at the other end of it stood a giant of a man, a man with a yellow jerkin and a horn, and a scarlet cap with a green feather. He leaned on a great quarterstaff and eyed the newcomers coldly.

"There's a lousy infant!" murmured Robin. "I've supposed I can reason him into joining us. We'll be needing a lot like him soon!"

"By the look of him," replied Will Scarlett morosely, "his quarterstaff does his reasoning for him!"

"Well, let's see what he's made of!"

"Go if you want," said Will with a shrug. "I'm glad it's your skull and not mine that'll suffer!"

Without comment Robin and the giant advanced toward each other, meeting in the middle of the log, where there was no room to pass.

"Give way, little man!" said Robin.

"Only to a better than myself!" said the giant.

"Let him pass," called Will from the bank where he lay in a crouch, "it's too warm to brawl with such a windbag!"

"When I've brushed off this fly," scoffed the giant, "I'll give you

Join The Army As A CAT And Earn US$4,000 A Year

The Army is auditioning singers, dancers and actresses here for $4,240 a year jobs as the CATs (Civilian Actress Technicians) who will entertain troops in Japan and the Marianas.

Major Thomas Ireland, of the Special Services, said 70 CATs were sent to the Pacific area in the past six months under the chief of CAT, Mr. Frances Holly, and he expects to audition 120 more in New York.—United Press.

signed the document with a flourish, he arose and handed it to Sir Guy of Gisbourne. "There—" said His Highness triumphantly. "A death sentence for your friend Sir Robin of Locksley! Have it proclaimed in every village that he's an outlaw...and hang anybody that gives him shelter or aid!"

"Yes, er...Sire!" said Sir Guy, a little prematurely.

"His possessions are forfeit to the Crown..." went on Prince John working himself to the verge of an apoplectic attack. Seize his castle and lands...everything he owns...ah... He walked toward the door, Sir Guy at his elbow. "And...er...just let the people know how the wind has changed...the sooner you begin collecting the...ah... the..."

"The ransom, Sire?" suggested Sir Guy smoothly.

"Yes...yes of course! The ransom! And don't forget Locksley!"

"I'll have him dangling in a week!"

"GRAY BOOK" PAINTS BLACK PICTURE

Budapest, September 28.

The Hungarian Government today issued a 61-page "gray book" detailing its charges that the United States sponsored sabotage of Hungarian oil production to prevent the Russians from getting the oil.

The book, printed in Hungarian and English editions, included photostats of handwritten confessions by Paul Ruedemann and George Bannentine, American President and Vice-President respectively of the Hungarian-American Oil Company, who were expelled from the country on Sunday after a week's detention by the Hungarian police.

A Government spokesman, presenting the document to foreign correspondents at a special press conference, said Hungary had been forced to publish full details of the case because it had received so much publicity abroad.

He said, "It is very unusual that the Government should arrest representatives of a foreign company which has large interests in its country—but it is just as unusual that officials of such a company should violate the law and attempt to damage the economy of the country in which they have contracts."

A signed confession by one of the arrested Hungarians was quoted as stating that members of the American military and commercial missions which visited Hungary in 1945 had instructed him to stop production "because in 1945 all oil deliveries were being made to Soviet occupation units."

The official spokesman also pointed out that the photostat of Ruedemann's confession included a statement that, towards the end of 1945, he had received instructions from Standard Oil officials in New York to reduce production and refuse to open up new oilfields.

"In Case of War" They also told me this was necessary because in case of a coming Third World War Hungary would fight against the United States and it was not desirable that the Southern European States, which belonged to the Soviet sphere of interest, should possess oil." Ruedemann was quoted as saying: "The document" also charged that American consular officials had helped Gyula Abazinger, Hungarian Company official, "with a fascist pact" to escape from Hungary before arrest.

Bannentine's photostat confession said: "I declare that Paul Ruedemann and I had previous knowledge of the flight of Gyula Abazinger."

In Vienna, Ruedemann said that he and Bannentine had signed the documents as the last hope of getting out of the country. He said they were given every reason to believe that they would be tried by the Communist People's Court and sent to prison.—United Press.

Pl-Guam Air Service Assured

Washington, September 29. United States authority to the Philippine Airlines to carry traffic between the Philippines and Guam apparently was assured yesterday when a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner stated he was recommending to the Board that the franchise be granted.

The examiner's statement followed a hearing on the Philippine Airlines application.

The Philippine Airlines move to establish a Manila-Guam service followed a US-Philippines agreement granting the Philippines the privilege of operating an air service to Guam. It is expected the CAB will announce a decision on the application within a fortnight.—Associated Press.

UN ASKED TO ORDER INDIAN WITHDRAWAL

Paris, September 28.

The Argentine delegate to the United Nations Security Council, Dr. Jose Arce, called on the Security Council today to order India to withdraw its troops from Hyderabad and to restore the independence of that state.

He said that members of the Security Council could not avoid their responsibilities under Article XXIV of the Charter, whereby members of the United Nations confer on the Council "primary responsibility for the maintenance of internal peace and security and agree that in carrying out its duties under their responsibility the Security Council acts on their behalf."

Dr. Arce declared: "We cannot allow a small group of Raza-ists to force the Indian Government to resign. India's delegate then quoted two documents from the evidence submitted to the Security Council by the Hyderabad delegate to show that the Nizam was not a free agent at the time the Hyderabad complaint was made.

The first document was a letter to the Nizam from Lord Louis Mountbatten, in which the former Governor-General of India stated his firm belief that a spirit of friendship would have prevailed between India and Hyderabad if the November coup had not occurred.

The second document contained notes on an interview between

"The Council should ask India to submit to the provisions of the Charter. If it does not then Hyderabad will suffer the same fate as Ethiopia."

At this point the Indian delegate, Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, sitting in the public seats, rose to ask whether, in view of the fact that his country was involved, he would have the right to take part in the debate.

The President, Sir Alexander Cadogan, suggested that the Council might invite representatives of both India and Hyderabad to attend discussions on the authenticity of the Nizam's documents.

The Syrian delegate, Faris Bey Al Khoury, suggested that the Security Council could not know the circumstances in which these documents were written.

After Sir Alexander Cadogan's invitation to the Indian and Hyderabad delegates to attend the Council discussion, but solely on the question of the authenticity of the documents, the Argentine delegate returned to the charge that the Nizam was not in a position to sign documents in complete independence.

Under Duress?

The question, said the delegate of Colombia, was whether the Nizam was under duress. The only way to find out, he added, was to accept a suggestion of the Syrian member and investigate the circumstances of the case.

Nawab Moyn Nawaz Jung (Hyderabad) said that he could not limit himself to discussing merely the credentials of his delegation because this question was linked with the question of development of recent events.

The real question before the Council was if the Nizam, when he signed the documents in question, was a free agent. The position, he said, was that the Government of a country sent a delegation to the United Nations. Meanwhile, the country was invaded and the delegation's orders were withdrawn. Could the Security Council countenance such a procedure?

Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar (India) replied that the Hyderabad representative had not produced a single fact to throw doubt on the authenticity of the documents. He merely made certain accusations against India.

The Indian delegate added: "It is natural that some members of the Council should have a sense of caution. My only regret is that this sense of caution was not exercised at the earlier stage. The Council should have discussed earlier how far the Nizam was a free agent in sending the delegation."

Forced To Resign

He then quoted a statement by the Nizam on September 23, in which he was alleged to have

Lord Louis Mountbatten, and the Prime Minister of Hyderabad on June 9. In this interview, Lord Mountbatten was quoted as saying that the November coup had caused India to lose faith in the administration of Hyderabad.

Cause Of Peace

Sir Ramaswami finally appealed to the Council to drop the complaint maintained by the Hyderabad delegate and decided that it would thus be best serving the cause of peace.

"I can show you thousands of telegrams from Moslems and Moslem Associations in the Dominion of India expressing their relief at the removal of this canker (the India and Hyderabad dispute), which has been poisoning Hindu-Moslem relations all over India."

"Now that this canker has been removed there is a great of friendship between the communities throughout India. By dropping the complaint the Security Council will strengthen India as a whole and will make a contribution to the cause of peace."

Without further discussion the Hyderabad question was adjourned by the Security Council until a date to be set by the President.—Reuter.

Count Sforza Advocates Work For Europe Union

Rome, September 28.

The Italian Foreign Minister, Count Carlo Sforza, today called for the unity of Europe as the only means of offsetting war and bringing peace to the world.

Speaking in the Italian Chamber on foreign policy, he declared: "We must use all our strength towards achieving a united Europe because this is the noblest message of the Italian spirit."

"We know well that the only way to terminate the monster of war is to work for the union of Europe—all Europe—and if not all then those parts that are nearest to us by interest and tradition."

Count Sforza accused the Communists of trying to force Italy into a false position of nationalistic isolation. He said that under this mantle of isolation, what they really want is a policy of close union with a power that they consider the Mecca of the world of tomorrow.

He said the first step on the road to European unity was the creation of a customs union with France. He had told the French Government in a note that the safest way for a European Union was to place it in the hands of the 16 nations who co-operated in the Committee for the Reconstruction of Europe.

Ship To Russia

The Foreign Minister added that he hoped other European nations could enter into a military union like that of Brussels. Dismissing the Opposition accusations because the Italian Foreign Office had failed to obtain better treatment over the dispersal of Italy's wartime fleet, Count Sforza said the Soviet Union had asked for the immediate delivery of 33 of the 43 ships assigned to her under the peace treaty.

Both Britain and the United States had renounced their full shares while France had renounced more than one third of her share of the Italian fleet.

On the question of the former Italian colonies, Count Sforza declared that the present position

Empire Conference In London

London, September 28.

Three leading Cabinet Ministers—the Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Ernest Bevin, and the Defence Minister, Mr. A. V. Alexander—will address the Empire Parliamentary Association Conference which opens here on October 19.

With 87 delegates from 37 different Parliaments and legislatures, this will be the largest and most representative conference ever held in the 36 years of the Association.

Major J.G. Lockhart, its Deputy Secretary, said today that the possibility of the Association changing its name to "Commonwealth Parliamentary Association" might be raised in the debate.

The change has been suggested to keep in line with other moves to drop the word "Empire" in favour of "Commonwealth."

Mr. Attlee will open the first session of the Conference. It will later be addressed by the Foreign Secretary when foreign affairs are discussed.

Mr. Philip Noel-Baker, Secretary for Commonwealth Relations, will be in the chair at the opening session which will deal with migration and the distribution of population. Mr. Alexander will open the Conference discussions on defence.

The visiting delegates will also take their turn in the chair and initiating debates. Conference sessions will be held in private as is customary in the Association. They will provide an opportunity for sharing views and opinions.

There will be no resolutions or voting unless it is about the Association's own future constitution. As hosts of the Conference, about 200 Members of Parliament, representing the United Kingdom branch of the Association, are expected to attend the discussion.—Reuter.

KOREANS TRYING TO ENTER JAPAN

Tokyo, September 29.

The Japanese coast guard today arrested 31 Koreans attempting to smuggle themselves into Japan near Maizuru, on the Japan Sea coast of Central Japan.

The coast guard said the Koreans were paying as much as 10,000 yen—about £34—under the army conversion rule—set head for the trip across the Japan Sea from Korea.—United Press.

Army Transport Is Now Funeral Ship

Yokohama, September 28.

The United States army transport, Dalton Victory, became a funeral ship today as the army loaded the bodies of 1,271 soldiers, sailors and marines—the first American war dead to be repatriated from Japan—for the long voyage home.

The ship will sail on Friday morning after solemn ceremonies to be led by the Eighth Army commander, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker. Representatives of the American and foreign armed services and the diplomatic missions in Tokyo and Yokohama will join in the memorial service.

As the ship clears the outer breakwater of Yokohama harbour a flight of air force bombers will fly over and drop flowers on the ship.

The Dalton Victory will make brief stops at Manila and Honolulu, docking at San Francisco. From San Francisco the bodies will be sent to various distribution centres throughout the United States and eventually to either the soldiers' homes, communities or the national cemetery.

About 1,000 bodies remain to be transferred from the temporary cemetery on Yokohama's bluff to permanent burial in the United States.—United Press.
